

A Call for Papers

The Society for the Study of the American Short Story

Invites proposals for presentation on two Society panels at the annual ALA conference:

1. Recovering “Lost” short stories. An investigation of significant stories that have been neglected or totally unknown in literary history.
2. New Readings of “Classic” American Stories. Papers should offer new information or a new perspectives that changes the way a story can be read and taught in American literature courses.

Proposals should give a one-paragraph abstract of the paper to be presented along with a biographical paragraph giving the credentials of the presenter to address this topic.

Please send proposals to the Society president, Jim Nagel, at jnagel@uga.edu by December 20, 2016.

For presentation at the American Literature Association ~~28th~~ Annual Conference,
